

2009 Animelowa Artist Alley Guidelines

Submission Guidelines

- Animelowa is a convention for all fans of anime; please insure that all artwork is appropriate for the nature of the convention.
- The Artists Alley is intended as a place for fans to meet artists, purchase prints, and commission works.
- Please keep Animelowa's family-friendly atmosphere in mind when choosing works to display on your table. Mature works are not prohibited, but please use good judgement in displaying them.
- Animelowa will be using Mindbridge's Art Policy this year. This is the policy: "In the interests of protecting the intellectual property rights of all artists, all items must be entirely the work of the individual displaying the piece to be eligible for sale or auction. Items for sale may not include copy protected or trademarked material, unless the artist can produce written permission from the individual or corporate holder of the intellectual property rights. Pieces portraying copy protected or trademarked material are eligible for display only. This rule applies to all artshow art as well as art available for sale in the artist's alley."
- What this means is there will be no fanart for sale at this year's Animelowa. Fanart will be for display purposes only.
- Artwork depicting characters and symbols licensed by an anime or manga company is considered fanart.
- Of course Animelowa's Artists Alley encourages Artists to bring, display and sell original art that is of the artist's own creation.
- Since the Artists Alley is staffed and run by volunteers, in all matters, the decision of the Artists Alley Department Head is final.

The exhibitor agrees to protect, keep, and save Animelowa forever harmless from any damage(s) or charge(s) imposed for violations of any law or ordinance by any exhibitor, their employees or agents, as well for failure to comply with the terms and agreements.
